GENERAL HACKATHON PITCH

WHAT

MadHacks 2015 is UW-Madison's first intercollegiate national hackathon. Come make history with 300 of your peers in one of the Midwest's greatest collaborative events this spring.

HOW

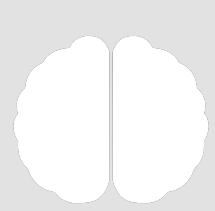

You'll spend 36 hours hacking on a new project in teams of 1-4. At the end of it all, you'll demo your project to the other hackers. In the meantime, you'll have free food, enjoy activities such as: a costume contest, dance competition, and gaming in our dedicated leisure lounge; meet wonderful sponsors, and make lifelong friends. May the maddest project win!

WHO

You! If you're 18+ and in school, you should apply to MadHacks to come showcase your talents! Students of all backgrounds and skill levels are welcome!

FALL 2016

WHAT

MadHacks is UW-Madison's national hackathon. We are coming back this October for a second weekend of fun!

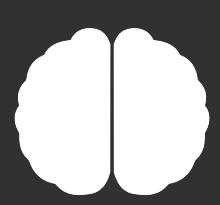

HOW

Unlike other hackathons, MadHacks is going to be putting emphasis on the wacky, the original, and the downright impossible! Like the mad geniuses, tinkerers, makers, and designers preceding us, we want to test our boundaries like never before! We're reaching out to the highly dedicated risk-takers, the envelope pushers, and the daredevils. We hope to produce a new kind of hackathon: where the winners are chosen by the hackers, and the sponsors feel like they are right in the middle of the hacker community itself—rather than on the outside looking in.

WHO

You! If you're 18+ and in school, you should apply to MadHacks to come showcase your talents! We are inviting 500 hackers of all skill levels to join us.
